

A snapshot report of the healthcare primary market research landscape using techspert.io internal data from June.

Expert connections by country

This map highlights the 16 countries our AI sourced experts from based on customer requests.

Experts in demand by field

10/10 customer rating

— “ —
Matt and the team were very helpful right from the start. They understood our needs for the project and accommodated our timelines to recruit the right people. Overall, working with them was a pleasure!
 — ” —

Senior Consultant at a global consultancy firm

Standout expert profiles

A leading global consultancy firm needed to gather insights from gastroenterology KOLS and patients affected by gastroparesis, a chronic condition affecting the normal function of the stomach.

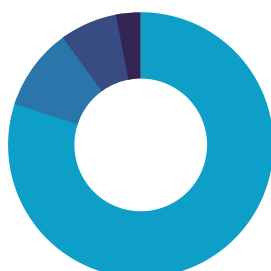

The criteria they wanted to cover included:

- Gastroenterologists and primary care physicians who regularly treat patients affected by gastroparesis
- Patients affected by gastroparesis to assess their unmet needs and current perspectives
- Based in the US, EU5, Canada and Japan

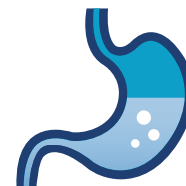

Using our AI powered search technology, we connected the customer with the precise experts they needed, including:

Customer project outcomes

- Market research 80%
- Go-to-market strategy 10%
- Investment decision 7%
- Marketing strategy 3%

Journal-published gastroenterologist with 65+ articles

Specialist currently treating gastroparesis patients

Doctor who has authored 115 publications and 3 clinical trials